NORTHWEST NAZARENE COLLEGE

Nampa, Idaho

There exists in colleges such as ours
a complex and intangible abundancy of component parts which merge,
almost unnoticeably,
into the final concrete product . . .

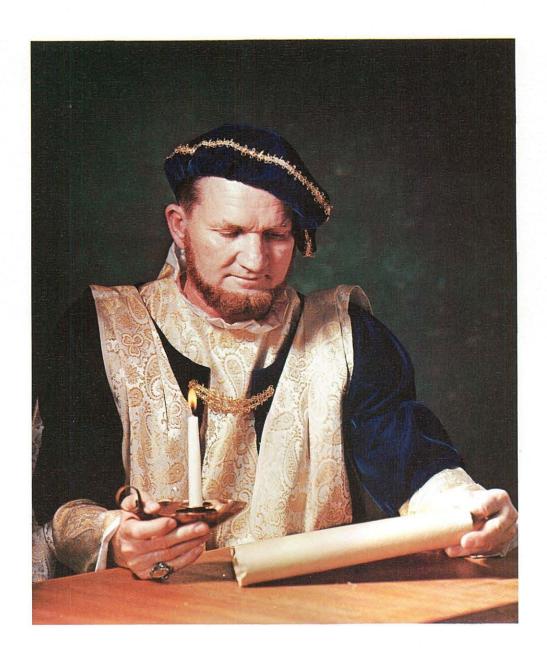

But to trace these minute and nebulous particles of collegiate structure is to venture out upon a task far more difficult and insurmountable than one realizes.

Even if we were to completely disregard the inanimate aspect of any college, we would still be confronted with a massive array of bits and pieces that congregate to form a college's most precious ingredient—the student.

Within the confines of this campus lies an untapped resource of emotion,
greatness,
love,
intelligence and beauty . . .

. . as to challenge the social grandeur of any organzied group of human beings on earth.

Here then, is a dissection of the basic component parts of Northwest Nazarene College . . .
great and small,
beautiful and hideous,
vivid and mellow,
obvious and subtle.

But this dissection only more vividly portrays the unity without which no college could exist.

The parts unite to form the collective whole and our individual lives become part of man's striving . . .

"TO BUILD THE EARTH."

Dr. Robert C. Woodward Honored

With his quizzical smile and diffident air he might have stepped out of a novel by Dickens.

He has a British sense of humor which leaves his hearers chuckling long after Dr. Robert Woodward has saddled up his bicycle and cantered home.

Good Anglo-Saxon adjectives best describe him. Words like sincere, methodical, sensitive, courageous. He has a passion for fair play and when, after summoning all the facts, he has made a decision, he stands like a Spartan at Thermopylae.

Students are challenged by him because he knows and respects learning. He calls himself a liberal conservative which, translated, emphasizes that he is current in his thinking and tolerant of those who disagree with him.

He is a builder—a good man for the long haul. There is nothing prefab about his teaching and his courses are built of sturdy stuff.

Dr. Woodward is accumulating his legend at NNC. They say that his course in Western Civilization separates the men from the boys. They say you don't know what intellectual dialog is until you've sat in a seminar with him.

In Oasis '68 we add our portion to the legend by saluting Dr. Robert C. Woodward, head of the history department, scholar, friend and Christian gentleman.

President Riley:

A Man With a Vision

Fifteen years ago John E. Riley became the seventh president of Northwest Nazarene College. Since that time the institution has grown from a tiny, obscure college and prep school into one of the most progressive educational institutions in the state of Idaho. This has been a product of the vision and relentless drive of Dr. Riley.

Board of Regents

The regents met twice during the year to consider the state of the college. They extended the tenure of all present officers, heard reports from President Riley, and approved several sabbaticals. Pushing toward the completion of Plateau 1970, they participated in the dedication of the Fine Arts Building and voted final approval for a new classroom building.

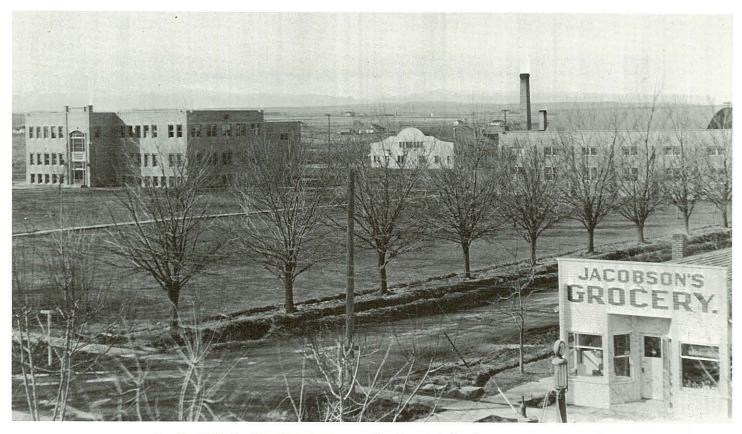

Board chairman, Rev. Kratzer, cuts the ribbon at the new Fine Arts building.

From Ideals . . . 1918

NORTHWEST NAZARENE COLLEGE

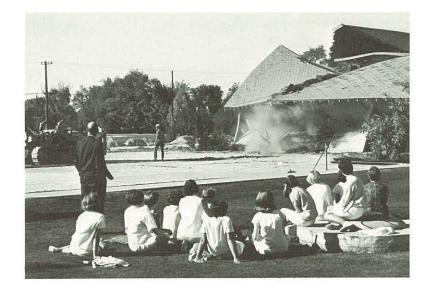

In 1918 the above master plan was proposed as the future layout of the campus of Northwest Nazarene College. Many of the buildings were built as originally planned

... but by 1932 the "ideal" had been modified to include what was then the largest gymnasium in Idaho, and a newly designed and enlarged administration-classroom building.

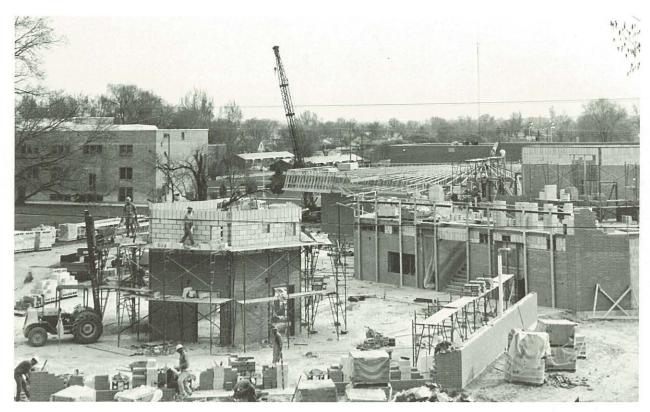

To Realities . . . 1968

Now, Plateau 1970 is nearing completion. With the destruction of Hadley Hall in the fall of 1967 and the razing of the Speech Hall in the summer of 1968 none of the original campus remains.

In its place stands the reality of fifty years of progress, a new classroom and educational media center. However, even this is only the foundation of the future of NNC.

The World '68:

The future turns to the present, the present into the past. No sooner does an event begin than it takes its place among the events of history. As one begins to examine these events it is difficult to know where to begin.

Perhaps science and medicine would provide an adequate starting point. Since time began, man has been puzzled as to the origins of life. This year the

the hideous and the beautiful mystery has been partially solved. Modern science now has at its disposal the necessary ingredients for making elementary forms of life. The question now is, "How long before science makes life itself?"

Medicine made monumental strides this year with the first human heart transplants. Dr. Christian Barnard of Cape Town, South Africa startled the world in December of 1967, when he provided a new heart for Cape Town grocer, Luis Waskanski. Waskanski lived for eighteen days after the transplant before succumbing to pneumonia. Since the first transplant there have been over a score of transplant attempts made throughout the world.

War was again paramount in the minds of many. In June the world marvelled at the "lightening war" or the "six day war" between Israel and the Arab states. The war started as an "incident" when Egypt blocked the Gulf of Aqaba. No one knows for certain who fired the first shot, but when the smoke cleared the world looked on a scene thought impossible. Tiny Israel, in six days of blitzkrieg war, had broken both the land and air power of the combined Arab states.

The Viet Nam situation projected both grave war and precious hope. The Tet offensive strained the strength of American and South Vietnamese forces in their support of the Saigon government. But in May of 1968 preliminary peace talks were convened in Paris, France. For the first time United States and North Vietnamese negotiators met face to face in an attempt to bring peace to a war torn people.

On the national scene the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King set off weeks of civil strife. Riots turned large portions of St. Louis, Washington, D.C., Newark and other cities into disaster areas. National Guard units were called out in scores of cities to stem the tide of civil unrest. A more peaceful contingent of the people continued plans for the Poor Peoples' March on Washington.

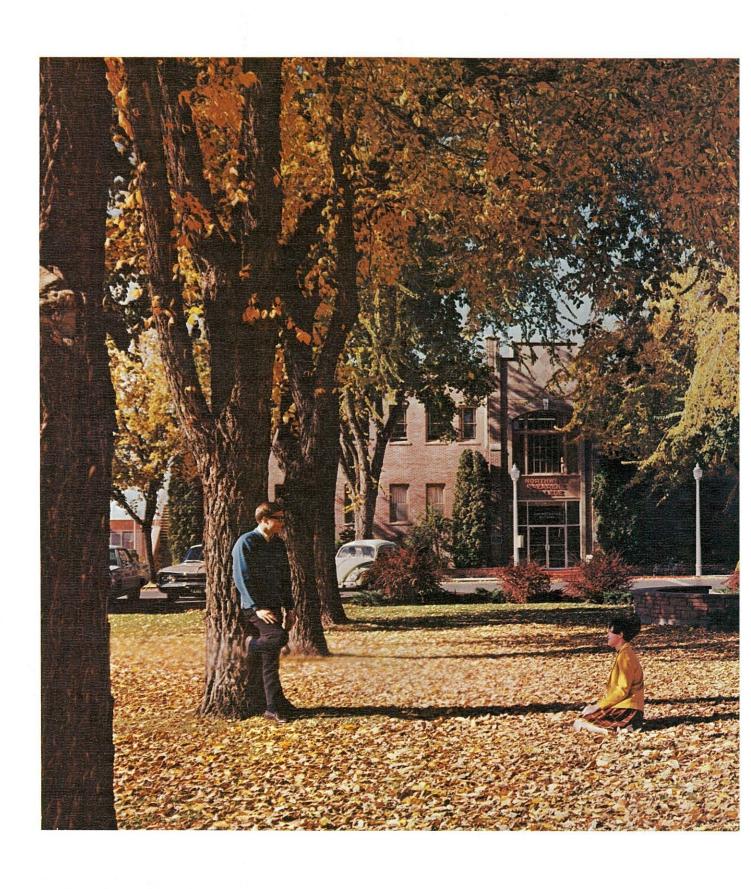

On the political scene anyone's guess goes. First came President Johnson's unprecedented decision that he would not "seek nor accept" the Democratic nomination for President. With Johnson out of the race Senators McCarthy and Kennedy, and Vice President Humphrey vied for the Democratic nomination. On the Republican side, Governor Rockefeller, after stating that he was not a candidate, finally threw his hat into the ring as a contender to former Vice-President Richard Nixon.

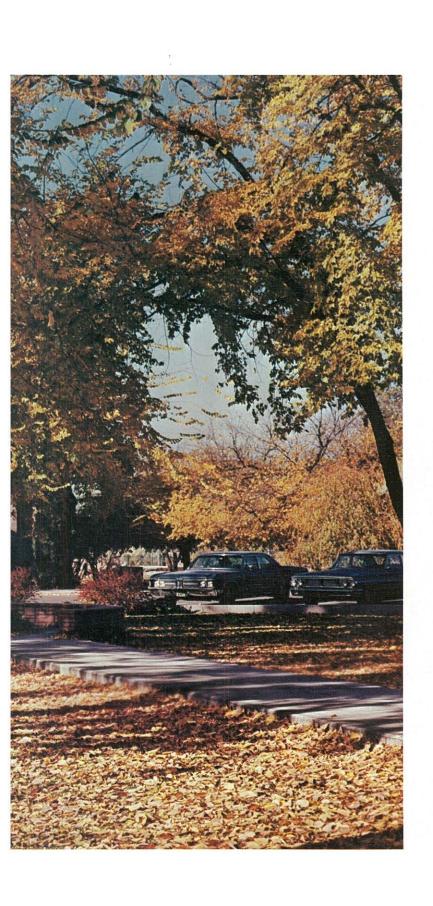

These are only a few of the events that have made the history of the past year. Some events were violent, some radiated hope for the future. What events that future holds we do not know, only that it too, will take its place in history.

Rex Crumrine

If fools and folly rule the world, the end of man in our time may come as a rude shock, but it will no longer come as a complete surprise.

STUDENT LIFE

training in leadership

As in past years, this year's fall and mid-winter officers' retreats were invaluable experiences. Working to create a more effective student government, the officers of the various clubs and organizations dissected and examined the problems which confronted the school in social, spiritual, and cultural areas.

Under the leadership of A.S.B. President, Rod Bell, both conferences ran smoothly.

Discussion groups provided insight into the year's problems and advances.

But most relaxing were the informal times.

Registration Week:

a merry madness

The year begins with the merry madness of registration: students scurrying from place to place, or participating in the various activities. It's a journey begun, each step building the uniformity of the past and the challenge of the future.

Built around the theme of the stages of love Junior Class Musical was very impressive. Caught in the mood of changing time the audience as "in love" with the performance.

The Notables:

"I can't stop . . ."

In concert for the second time this year the Notables received a warm response. They played a variety of numbers, from show tunes, to blues, to progressive jazz, pleasing the audience with their versatility and easy flowing style.

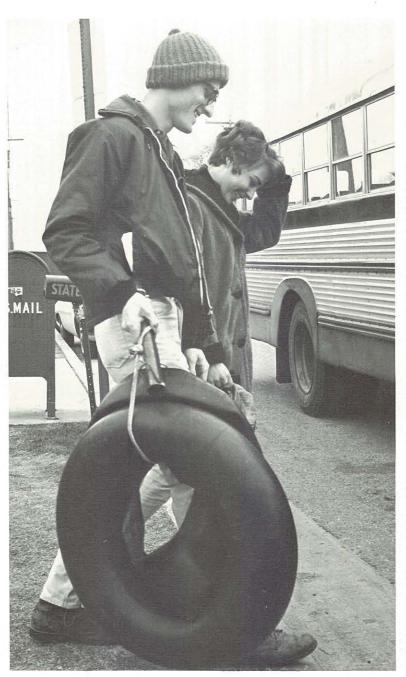

The drums added an exquisite beat.

Director Jim Willis encouraged the band in a fine performance.

With its theme taken from "Camelot" the Junior-Senior banquet was one of the most outstanding moments of the year. The guests enjoyed the program which included the music of the Court Singers, and Minstrels, and the frolicking spirit of the jesters. The evening was enjoyable and a courtly mood filled the air.

Couples dined in a South Sea atmosphere, South Sea style, at this year's Sweetheart banquet. In a completely different vein from past banquets, it transported the students from school to swaying palms.

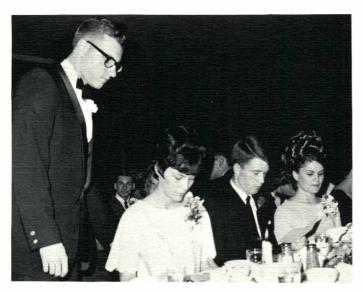

Entrance was made by way of an alluring lagoon.

A washtub bass added a different flair in entertainment.

Decorations included everything from a volcano to an ice fish.

To everyone it was a delightful evening.

Student Council:

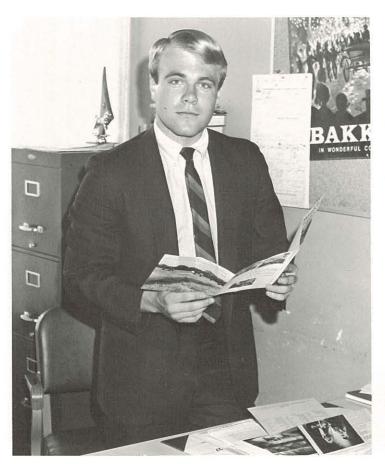

an advancement in leadership

Progress was the hallmark of student council this past year. Building on the foundations constructed by previous councils, a new constitution was passed, Spiritual Quest Week was initiated, and, under the auspices of the National Student Leadership Conference, a questionnaire was written to delve into the college students' opinion concerning problems of the day.

President Rod Bell, taking the initiative in every area, led the council well. His calm approach to every problem gained the respect of the administration and students alike. And his ability to probe intellectual issues stimulated each of us.

The other student officers were busy as well. Dave Lewis worked hard to make Sounding Board and Franchise committee effective. Leon Fulcher planned the social calendar with care and ingenuity. With financial problems one of the major difficulties of the year, Laura Lawson kept the council posted and prevented us from making decisions which would have meant financial difficulties for the coming council.

Overseeing and coordinating all activities was editor Stephen Thomas.

Sponsors, Miss Washburn and Dr. Miller, advised the staff on questionable points of production.

Dean Nafziger kept a close tab on the finances in his role as business manager.

Immediate goals for the future include a physical education plant and a men's dormitory. The spring meeting of the Board of Regents approved the Treasure House of Learning plan to add 50,000 new books to the library.

Alumni Secretary

Mr. Kenneth Meenach is a link between the Northwest Nazarene College of the present and the Northwest Nazarene College of the past. His main form of communication is the "Messenger," a monthly newsletter to all alumni of NNC. Homecoming also plays a large role in his duties. Meals and activities for the hundreds of visitors are only two of the many parts necessary for a successful Homecoming. Effective transmission of the continual and current school policies require the services of Mr. Meenach.

Literature and Language:

stress on expression

A discovery and appreciation of the ageless values of truth, beauty, and goodness states the purpose of the Division of Language and Literature. Development of a personal philosophy is attempted through a knowledge of the best literature, understanding of human nature and the cultures of other nationalities. The media of this communication are poetry, drama, novel, biography, essay, short story, and history. Marian Washburn, the chairman of the division, guides the work of the department heads, Dr. Arthur Seamans and Juanita Demmer. Joyce Etulain is acting head of the Department of Speech.

The division of Philosophy and Religion has four major objectives. They are 1) To give each student a basic knowledge of the scriptural, religious, and cultural heritage of Christianity; 2) To reach an individual philosophy, consonant with reason and revelation; 3) To underline the necessity of applying Christian principles to all areas of life; 4) To prepare students for Christian service. underscores society's functions

The aim of the Division of Social Sciences is to study and interpret the various aspects of society and to relate this knowledge to the present, rapidly changing world. The scientific methods are employed whenever possible in order to prevent prejudice. The building of a Christian citizenship to effectively improve society is another purpose of this division. The Departments of Business Administration, Economics, History, Home Economics, Political Science, and Sociology provide courses that may lead to several specialized fields. Dr. Percival Wesche is the chairman of this division. Department heads are Marvin Byers, Dr. Howard Miller, Dr. Robert Woodward, Eula Tombaugh, and acting head John Jamison.

The two objectives of the Division of Fine Arts are 1) To develop an appreciation for the arts that will have a lasting value in each student's life; 2) To orientate students professionally interested in the arts. These aims may be further divided into the following: 1) to give a vision of greatness; 2) to show that art and music are expressions of life; 3) to relate music and art to all the aspects of life; 4) to perfect the proficiency in execution and appreciation for art and music. This division intends to give each student the chance to acquire scientific knowledge; to instigate the scientific methods of accurate observation and objective attitudes; to heighten the appreciation and enjoyment of the universe and the world; and to integrate science with Christianity. This division, also, urges students to continue their education. In preparation for this extension of knowledge, research is conducted in several areas. Dr. Gilbert Ford is the chairman and is assisted by Dr. Donald Tillotson, Dr. Joseph Tracy, and Dr. Milton Dean.

Mind over matter ... with 2.5 miles gone, and only 1.5 to go.

The Crusaders experienced a successful season, winning dual meets over C of I and Boise College, sweeping the Eastern Oregon Invitational, and climaxed the season with victory in the Idaho Collegiate Cross Country Championships. The young team finished a disappointing fifth in district competition. Dennis McIndoo was the lone bright spot for the team that day, as he finished second, thus maintaining his dominance over District II opposition.

Two points ... As John Pryor maneuvers through the pack for a left-handed shot.

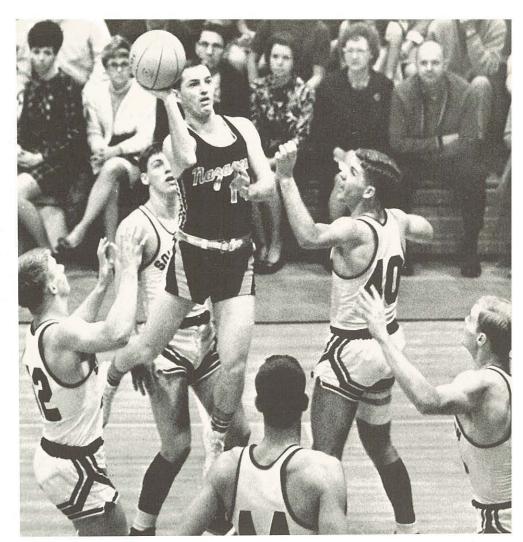

This year's version of the Crusaders proved to be a strong and exciting club. New rebound strength, some new offensive wrinkles, augmented by good shooting, and our usual scrappy, fast-break brand of ball demanded attention from local and regional roundball enthusiasts. The team completed their rugged schedule with 14 wins and 12 losses, and an invitation to the NAIA District II championship playoffs.

Individually, John "Babe" Pryor led the team in various statistical areas, and also garnered several post season awards. He led the team in scoring with 18.6 points per game average, and made a phenomenal 883% of his free shot attempts, hitting on 68 of 77. For this year's work Babe was elected team captain and was awarded a position on the District II Allstar team. Capping a brilliant season, Babe was given honorable mention on the NAIA all-American basketball team.

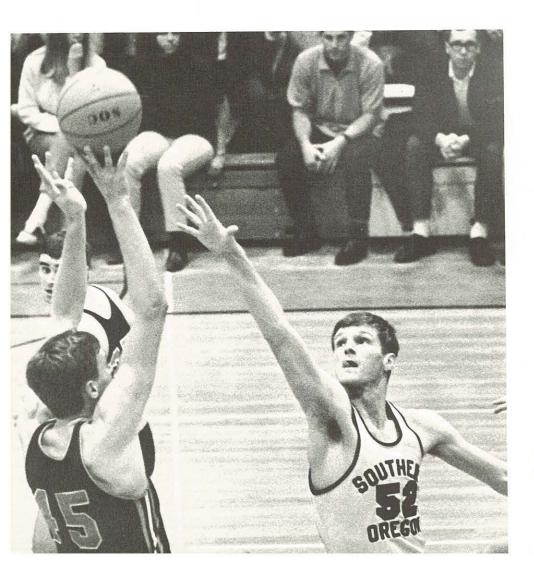

Gary Lawson led the Crusaders in the rebounding department averaging 12.8 per game. Steve Sharp got his name on the record book by shooting 476% from the field. Freshman, Steve Sandlin made the most free throws and was second in ten categories, which speaks of his value to the team.

STATISTICS

This year's Frosh unit compiled a 7 win and 13 loss record. Al Black-lock was leading scorer with a 15.3 per game average, followed closely by Bob Ecker, Bob Vandersleus, and Evan Groutage. Groutage dominated the rebound department with a 12.3 per game average. As a team, the Frosh were outscored by their opponents by only one point, indicating that several games were lost by narrow margins. The only other statistical areas which the yearling Crusaders did not outdo the opponents was in the field goal percentage.

Wrestling

The Wrestling team completed its season with a 4-7 dual meet record. The season began on a winning note 3-0, but the Crusaders were able to win only one of the next eight matches.

The word "young" very aptly describes the wrestling team, a team which holds promise for the future. Of the eight fellows earning varsity letters two were juniors, four were sophomores, and two were freshmen.

The two outstanding individual records were compiled by Sam Frazier (152) with a 10-4 record and Chuck Geselle (130) with a 9-4 record.

undefeated season

NNC's first intercollegiate undefeated team in regular season competition, this year's linksters are to be commended. Every member of the team contributed to their fine record and it was only by a small margin that they were defeated in the NAIA District II play-offs. Outstanding performances were turned in regularly by John "Babe" Pryor and Bob Taylor.

pect to better their team record which stood at 5 wins and 7 losses this year.

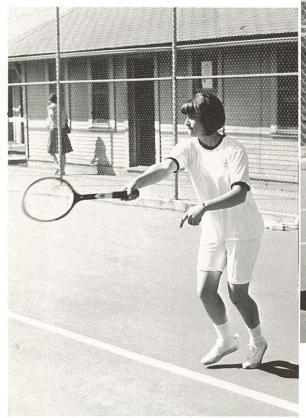

Forest Beymer, the team's only senior played second singles and teamed with Kent Hill in first doubles.

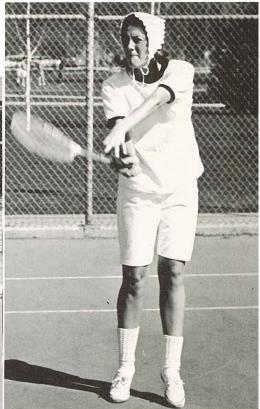

As a freshman Kent Hill emerged as first singles player.

Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team enjoyed a successful season, finishing up with a 6 win and 2 loss record. Lois Belisle (7-1) and Jan Castledine (6-2) achieved outstanding records. All of this year's team members were freshmen, indicating strength in coming years.

Marilyn Vail, playing number two singles, compiled a record of 4 wins and two losses.

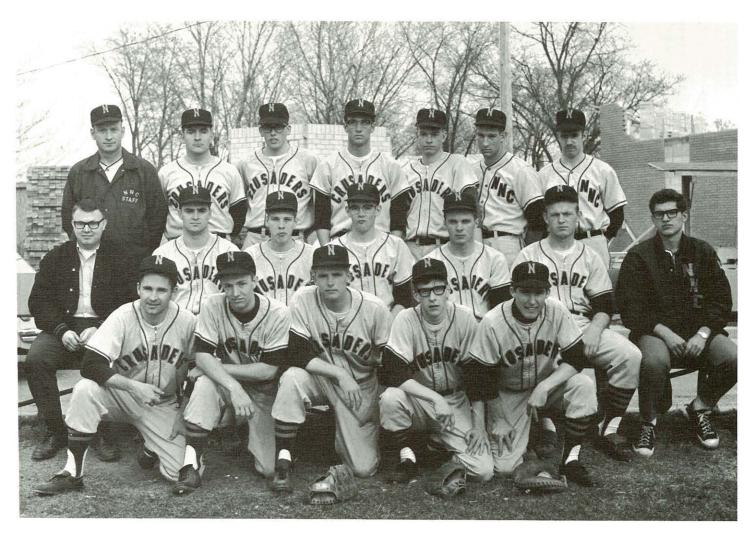

Playing number one singles all season, Cathy Cramer emerged with a respectable 4 win and 3 loss record.

Coach Elmore Vail

After having lost seven of their first eight games, the Crusaders charged back to win seven of their next eight, only to finish the season with a nine and eleven mark. The team won seven of their nine road games.

Senior Gary Lawhead was elected team captain. Gary consistently hit in the clutch, in evidence by his team-leading RBI production. Sophomore Ron Frank led the team in hitting and was voted by his team members as inspirational player. Bob VanderSleus, a freshman hurler, made an outstanding contribution in compiling a five win and two loss record, including three sparkling shutouts.

Under the rebuilding program of Coach Taylor, this year's group of spikers continued to show steady progress. They won and lost meets about equally but as the season progressed they showed added strength and developed a solid foundation for next year's squad.

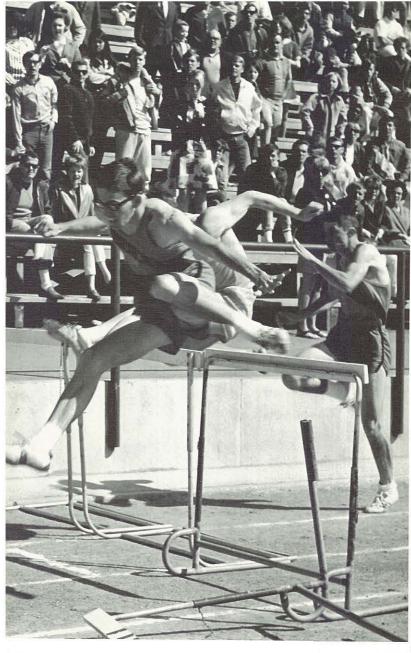

Don Conrath led the team in scoring with 102 points. He competed in the long jump, high jump, triple jump, and the high hurdles. Terry Cantrell and Hal Perkins scored 95 and 90 points respectively.

Freshman Wally Moore and sophomore Dennis McIndoo turned in second place performances at the district II NAIA meet. Moore's time of 1:56.4 was :00.2 seconds off the school standard.

The mile relay team composed of George Summers, Cantrell, Perkins, and Moore snapped the old school mark of 3:29.5 by 4 seconds, bringing the record down to 3:25.5. With only two seniors graduating, the squad looks for continued improvement in years to come.

CMA

The Christian Ministerial Association's purpose is to provide Christian fellowship, practical information, and inspiration for future ministers. Regular monthly meetings highlight speakers from the local and general church levels, giving the members the opportunity to discuss issues vital to the future of our denomination.

Shepherdes: Club

As CMA is designed for prospective ministers, Shepherdess is designed to give practical instructions to the future pastor's wife. The women learn of the problems and joys of the par sonage home.

GMS

It was a profitable year for GMS. Over $2400 was pledged to aid mission work on the island of Jamaica. There was a change this year in chapel planning. Because of the importance of a basic understanding of the mission enterprise, GMS chapels were devoted to the "why" of missionary endeavor. Chapel titles included: "What does it mean to be redemptive?"; "Does a missionary have a right to change culture?"; and "The relevancy of the missionary message and methods."

WMF

Another campus missionary group is the World Missionary Fellowship. A special group for students who have a deeper interest in missionary work, it meets to share experiences with missionaries through tapes and letters.

The year began with the annual candlelight service.

Group leaders, Glenn Culbertson, Carl Green, Jim Thompson, Gale Shafer, Dave Templin, Jerry Warren, Rick Skeen.

Many traveling groups were sent out during the year.

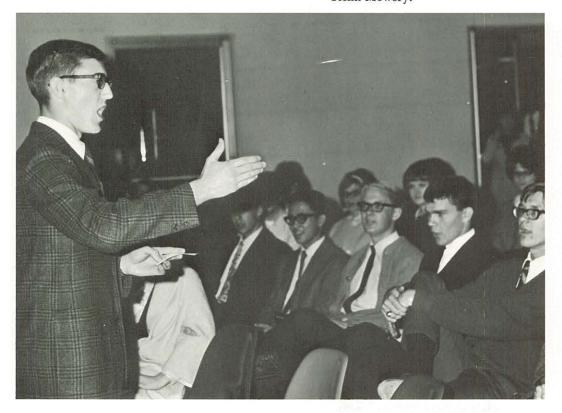

CWB

A vital arm in NNC's outreach is C.W.B., an organization open to all students willing to dedicate their time and talents for the churches, hospitals, and various institutions of our educational zone.

During the months of January and February over 200 students traveled some twenty thousand miles to conduct special services. Of prime importance was the club's youth crusade at Meridian. In the local area C.W.B. has continued to make weekly trips to visit nursing homes and sponsor singspirations.

Officers: JoAnne Jantzer, Ann Jeffries, Dr. Sanner, Lyle Pointer, president, Glenn Mowery.

Jim Thompson led the C.W.B. singspirations.

Row one: Janine Lytle, Edith Paine, Dr. Woodward, advisor. Row two: Ric Burns, Bill Drain, Alvin Powers, President, Paulette Patterson.

Young Democrats

Endeavoring to stimulate interest on the political front Young Republicans and Young Democrats speak out on the political issues. Although the smallest group Young Democrats were the most active. During the year, especially in connection with Choice '68, the Democrats formed commit-

Row five: Ron Bozarth, Roger Baker, Larry Nauta, Gene Maison, Ron Moore, Bob Ecker, Gary Gunderson, Vic Herrell, Ben Bunn, Wally Moore.

Ski Club

For anyone who loves the snow and thrills to the brisk mountain air, Ski Club can promise hours of excitement and fun. The organization sponsors frequent trips to the "land of snow," Bogus Basin, during the winter months. Members are composed of "old pros" on the skiis as well as those who are just learning.

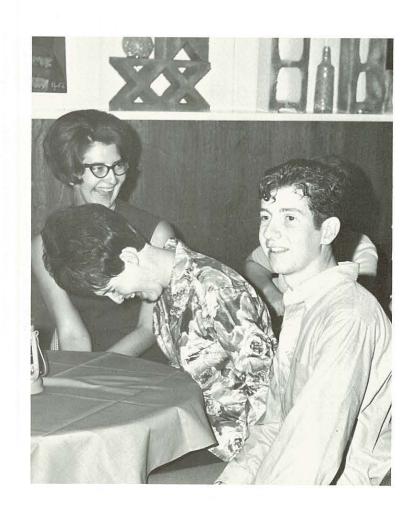

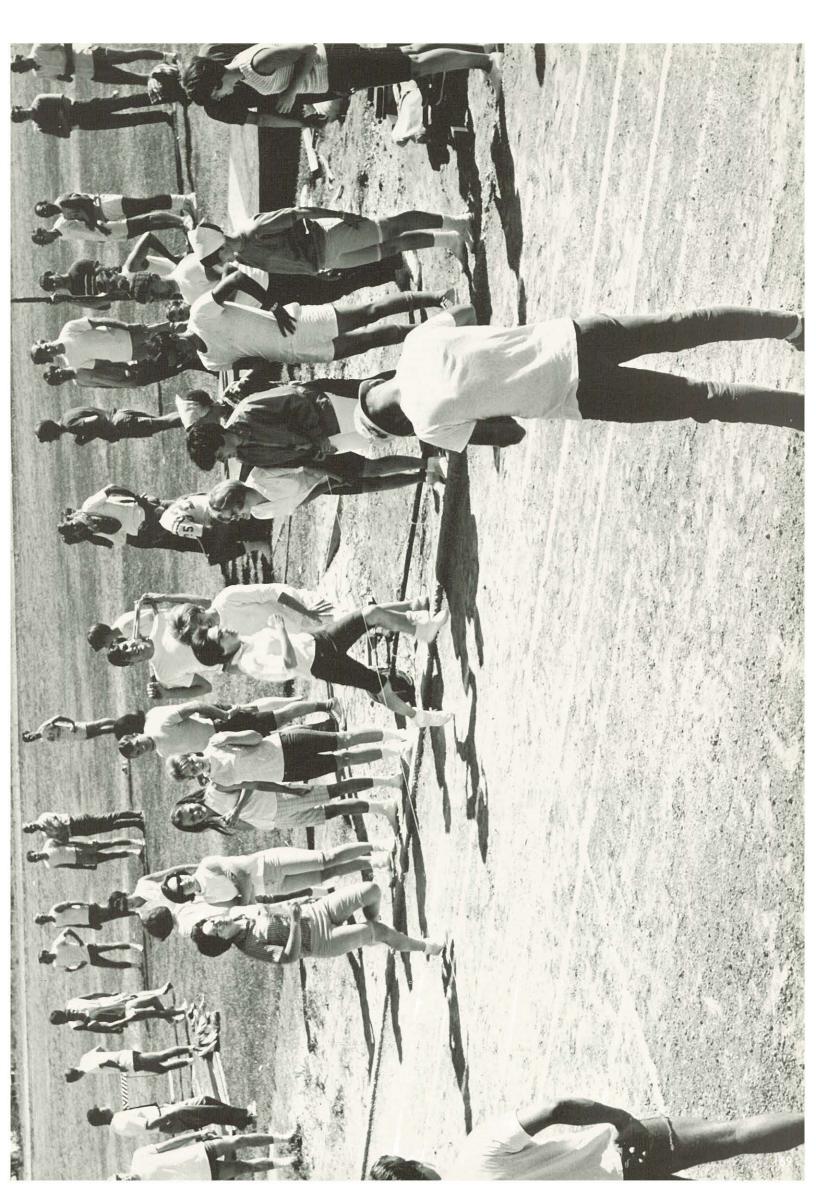

Up, Up, and away.

The school year is a medley of life.

Off-Campus Students:

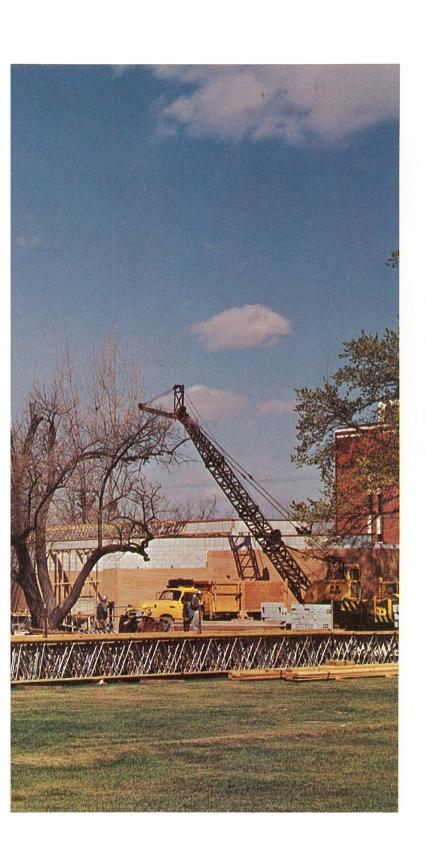

Married and Single

On any campus there are two cultures, dorm life, and off-campus life. Neither knows much of the other's way of living.

This year N.N.C. had over 350 offcampus students, either married or single. Their mode of living cannot be outlined so easily as that of the "dorm culture," but they are a part of the entire culture which makes the college what it is.

A MEMORIAL TO A MAN

Two men had a dream—a dream of freedom and justice. There have been many men in this country with such a dream; some have seen it fulfilled, others have not.

A revolution was fought and a nation founded because of this dream. Civil war came because of this dream, and the dream stood stalwart. All through history man has fought, lived and died for this dream. There are those who have worked for it through non-violent means, for violence has never proved its worth. It has been in times of peace when it has advanced the farthest.

To the men that have dreamed the dream of freedom, justice, and equality, many memorials have been raised. Our founding fathers constructed their memorial in the principles of constitutional government. The Civil war left its memorial of a scared but united nation.

Now a new memorial must be built. The people's power must build a memorial of inward as well as superficial unity. Justice must reign through love, for violence and hate never brings peace.

There have lived and died in this year the dreamers and planners of such a memorial. Their search for justice and equality ended in the violence of death, but their dream continues. These men shall not have died in vain.
